Central West Seasonal Produce

Spring

In spring, the Central West bursts into life with a tapestry of blossoms and golden fields. Delicate flowers unfurl across orchards and gardens, while vast stretches of canola glow under the sun, painting the landscape in brilliant yellow. Fresh greenery emerges everywhere, and the countryside hums with colour, fragrance, and the gentle energy of renewal.

PYO TIPS

- Check ahead: Pick Your Own (PYO) availability can vary based on weather and how the season progresses. It is highly recommended to check an orchard's website or social media page for updates before you visit.
- Bookings are often required: Some orchards require advance bookings, especially for weekend visits. Check their booking information to avoid disappointment.
- What to bring: It is advisable to bring your own bags or buckets for picking, and wear comfortable covered shoes, hats and sunscreen.
